Whatever may be the case concerning the newspaper, the Bible school must come to the place where it will demand of its teachers a thorough knowledge (1) of the Bible, (2) of the pupil, and (3) of the principles and methods of teaching. 2. Enthusiastic. --Enthusiasm is a vital part of education. It is as contagious as the measles. If you want to know whether or not you are enthusiastic, simply observe whether the people with whom you associate get enthusiastic on the things in which you are most interested. 3. Ambitious. --It is perfectly proper for every teacher and Bible-school worker to try to excel. Make your class the best class, your department the best department, your school the best school. Try to be the best trained teacher in the school. Often the difference between success and failure is the difference between ambition and laziness. 4. Conscientious. --To live as Christ would have us live and as we would have our scholars live is an absolute essential of an ideal teacher. Miss Margaret Slattery tells the story of how one day she told Charlie in particular, and the whole school in general, not to run over the lawn that day, . as it had been raining and the lawn was soft. After dismissing her scholars in the evening, she hastened to get ready to go out to a dinner party. As she went to the door of the schoolroom, she saw...
