One hundred and sixteen admissions, equal to 4. 86 per thousand of strength, were recorded in the Pacific Islands and China, of which 9 terminated fatally and 27 were discharged for resulting disability. At the Tuberculosis Exposition, held at Baltimore, Md. , in January, 1904, the Medical Department of the Army was represented by Maj. George E. Bushnell, surgeon, U. S. Army. The following extracts taken from his report are of interest: The exposition was held under the auspices of the tuberculosis commission of Maryland conjointly with the State board of health of Maryland and the Maryland Public Health Association. In the words of its founders, it was intended as an objective presentation to the people of Maryland of the history, distribution, varieties, cost, prevention, and cure of tuberculosis. The exhibits were displayed in the corridors adjoining the McCoy Hall of Johns Hopkins University. A large number of charts presented the statistics of the subject in a graphic way, showing the...
