But to treat this subject intelligently, it is requisite to recur briefly to the peculiar origin and characteristics of the insurrectionary movement. And the first remark to be made is, that the rebellion differs from most others, in the singular fact that it did not proceed so much from the people of the States, which nominally seceded, as from the governments of those States. At the outset, it was, for the most part, a conspiracy of official persons. And to render the enormity greater, these very traitors, using the democratic party, as a means,...
